16.	What is the difference between the e-Invoice and Unifi bill?	e-Invoice requires verification from the Inland Revenue Board of Malaysia (IRBM) before it is issued to customers via a QR Code inserted on the e-Invoice shared with customers. Unifi bill is the existing monthly bill that you receive for your Unifi subscription. The bill displays your Unifi account details, subscription / value added services, duration of charges, discount and total amount of your service.

NO	QUESTION	ANSWER
		Should you require an e-invoice, you will receive two separate documents i.e. your unifi bill / existing bill and the e-invoice document.
17.	Will e-Invoice replace my monthly Unifi bills that TM sends to my company?	As mentioned in Q2 above, there are no changes to our bills and billing process and you will continue to receive the bills as usual.
18.	How will this new e-Invoice affect my company? Will my company still be able to claim tax deduction on payments made to TM?	As the e-Invoice implementation will be carried out in phases, your company can continue using existing bills for tax deductions. IRBM has not yet announced a requirement for e-Invoices as supporting documents for tax deductions. For more information, please visit IRBM's official website
19.	When do I need to submit the information for e-Invoice to TM?	As mentioned in Q6, you can update your information in the TM E-Invoicing Portal anytime at your convenience.
20.	What happens if I do not submit the information required for e-Invoice to TM?	If the required information is not provided or inaccurate, your application for e-Invoice may be rejected by IRBM during the validation process. Hence, TM will not be able to issue a validated e-Invoice document.
21	Would IRBM's requirement for e-invoicing have any implication on payments between a buyer and a seller?	No, e-invoicing should not affect payments between a supplier and buyer during the transitional period, which lasts until 1 July 2025. According to IRBM (refer FAQ), during this period, taxpayers may provide either a regular bill, receipt, or invoice (if the supplier has not yet adopted e-Invoice) or a validated e-Invoice to support transactions for tax purposes until the full rollout. Thus, there will be no changes to our billing process. You will continue receiving and paying bills as usual until e-Invoice is fully implemented.
22	What is the impact if we continue receiving normal invoices without the IRBM-validated QR code?	Payments will continue as usual following normal invoices, and TM is working to ensure a smooth transition to e-invoicing. Kindly refer to Q21 above.
